

SWAG! Reward Reskilling for Future of Work

Megan Bickle

? WHAT SWAG HAVE YOU FOUND SUCCESSFUL ?

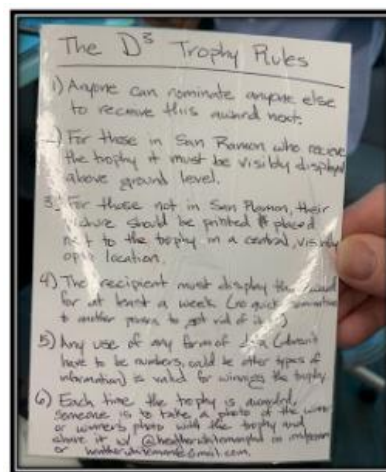

Swag is a powerful reward & recognition tool to drive continuous learning culture.

HR swag helps engage employees in reskilling by adding an element of fun and recognition. Studies show rewards and participation in training programs. Branded swag like t-shirts, water bottles and notebooks act as physical reminders of learning goals while creating excitement around upskilling. Completing reskilling milestones allows employees to earn swag that publicly displays their commitment to lifelong learning. HR swag also fosters community and pride in developing new skills for the future of work. The combination of rewards, celebration and shared purpose makes swag a powerful tool to drive continuous learning cultures.
